Patrick Munro is the founder of Northstar Financial Advisors. His affinity for investing and financial matters began more than 22 years ago with business education and service throughout the ranks of the banking, insurance, and brokerage industries. He is certified in financial planning and analysis and holds life, health, and long-term care licenses in North Carolina and South Carolina.

Patrick has provided highly personal service to clients all over North and South Carolina to help them identify tax savings through various safe financial products and utilize the various tax strategies available to seniors to protect their assets. In addition, Patrick has helped many clients eliminate the financial threat of long-term care and ways to avoid the unnecessary difficulties of probate court.
